

Wide Plank Floor

SOUTH FACE OAK

SOUTH FACE OAK

Reclaimed Wide Plank Flooring

South Face Oak flooring is the classic reclaimed oak floor featuring all that reclaimed oak barn board has to offer. This floor is graded to enhance the natural rich color variation, nail holes and sound checking throughout the grade. South Face Oak is known for its rich coloring and warmth making it the number one selling reclaimed floor at Bingham. All barn board products will have nail holes, color variation, and natural sound checking. The southern exposure of the barn receives the most harsh exposure and those boards have the best characteristics to offer our South Face Oak Flooring boards.

Where our Product Originates

The South Face Oak custom flooring features reclaimed oak barnboard. Barnboard is found throughout a salvaged barn in mainly three areas; siding, loft boards, and interior partitions. Barnboard that was exposed to the natural heat and the elements has aged overtime creating not only unique coloring, but one of a kind textures. The oak barnboard is found from the mid Atlantic states right up through the Ohio river valley. Bingham values the long-time relationships with other small family run business's to source and reclaim the finest materials our salvaged barns have to offer.

* Please note, due to the reclamation process and the natural differences in reclaimed wood, our displays and samples are close representations of a finished product. Each floor is unique and may contain more or less characteristics than represented.
